LAY SCHOOL PLANS BEFORE THE PUBLIC

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE CALLS MEETING FRIDAY NIGHT.

A GENERAL DISCUSSION

Need of More School Room to be Presented at Banquet at First Christian Church.

A general meeting of the business men and women of the city will be held Friday night to discuss the proposition of building an addition to the high school and providing other improvements and also to take up the matter of increasing the salaries of the teachers.

A dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock at the First Christian church, the serving being in charge of the women of the church and the speeches and discussion of the proposition will follow.

The needed improvements for the school have been the subject of agitation by the school board for some time. The increased enrollment of the high school has made it imperative to have more class rooms, better quarters for the manual training and home economic departments as well as provision for a gymnasium of suitable size. The enrollment of the high school since Superintendent J. M. McDonald has been here—four years—has increased from 208 to 328.

The matter of increased salaries for teachers is one of pressing need. Other states are paying much more for teachers than Missouri and as result many are leaving this state.

Eric Shue, an architect of Hutchinson, Kansas, was in conference with the members of the school board last week and the plans talked over with him will be laid before the meeting Friday night. A bond issue to cover the cost of these improvements will be called if the decision at this assemblage of businnes men Friday night is favorable.

At the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce held last night, no other business of importance was transacted.

C. The Secretary's statement was as follows:

"At the outset the War Department promised that it would return, as soon as practicable, the bodies of all soldiers who died in France and whose next of kin desired the return.

"The War Department has never departed from this promise nor abated any effort to carry it out. So far all obstacles have been overcome in the matter of the return of all bodies from England, Italy, North Russia, Belgium, Luxembourg, Siberia, Germany, and outside the war zone in France, and every step which can be taken has been taken to return these bodies at once. The French government temporarily withheld its consent to the exhumation of bodies in the war zone where the largest number of allied dead are buried. The State Department is seeking activley to have this consent given, and as soon as it is given the same steps will be taken with regard to the American dead buried there. No sort of preference will be permitted in the order of the return of our dead, but that system which will return those who are to be brought back most speedily, without distinction between officers or men, or upon any other ground.

"The wishes of the next of kin will be the sole determining factor. Those who desire to leave the bodies of their dead on the ground where they fell, or in the great memorial cemeteries in France, will be premitted to do so. As between those who present different views of the action proper to be taken in the matter of bring home these deceased soldiers, the War Department has only the desire to have free discussion of the circumstances in order that all decisions may be made on the basis of full information and the wishes of those most interested respected."

TRAINING PLAN WENT GLIMMERING

HOUSE DEMOCRATS VOTE TO OPPOSE ARMY MEASURE OF 106 to 17.

IS DOOMED THIS SESSION

Pacifist Element In Party Too Strong Even for the President's Leadership.

Washington, Feb. 10.—The leaders of congress expressed the belief today that universal military training was doomed, at least, so far as present session of congress is concerned.

In the face of an indorsement of the principles by President Wilson and his appeal to take no party action against it, the Democrats of the house of Representatives recorded themselves overwhelmingly last night in opposition to universal training legislation by this congress. The vote was 106 against universal military service and 17 for it. With the Democrats overwhelmingly opposed and the Republicans divided, all hope of universal military training legislation glimmering.

The text of the resolution adopted by the caucus of house Democrats follows:

"It is the sense of this caucus that no measure should be passed by this congress providing for universal, compulsory military service or training."

The action was taken at the end of three hours of heated debate, with a small minority striving in vain to avert a repudiation of the President's leadership.

Mr. Wilson's views and appeal were made known to a caucus in a letter from the president to Secretary Baker which was read to the Democrats by Representatives Caldwell of New York

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN NODAWAY COUNTY

For Representative in Congress.

I hereby announce myself a Democratic candidate for Representative in Congress, Fourth Congressional District, Missouri subject to primary election first Tuesday in August, 1920

ROBERT I. YOUNG.
A15tf.

ATTENTION, MR. HAYS!

By Mrs. George Bass.

I am amused, and if I were more of a tryo at politics, I should say that I am amazed, at some of the contentions made by Mr. Will Hays in his recent interview appearing in the Pictorial Review. Especially is this true in regard to what he says of the Republican party's suffrage record. You remember, it goes like this:

"DEEDS, NOT WORDS!

"Within two weeks after the return of Republican control the Sixty-sixth congress passed the Federal suffrage amendment by an overwhelming majority. * * * The Democrats, in control of Congress for the past eight years, talked about—and did nothing.

"Republican sentiment for suffrage steadily growing through the years, culminated in the final passage of the Federal suffrage amendment of 1919 by a Republican Congress. There is our specific record on woman's suffrage."

The simple truth is that if we strike off the first syllable and the two last letters of Republican—Re-PUBLIC-an—we have the full and complete explanation of the passage of the suffrage amendment. Public sentiment in favor of woman suffrage has grown all over the civilized world until the United States could no longer remain obdurate to the appeal. A year ago, with forty-one legislatures in session, most of them eager to ratify a suffrage amendment, the leading Republican women of this country begged the members of their party in the senate to find one additional vote—just one—that the Nineteenth Amendment might be an accomplished fact, and the women of the nations freed from the long ,tiresome struggle to get the ballot. Even with all that public urge the Republicans professed themselves unable to secure that one necessary vote. They found it in June, however.

Nobody believes that the Republican party received any fresh information concerning suffrage between the adjournment of the Sixty-fifth Congress and the special session of the Sixty-sixth. When at last, as a measure of expediency, the party decided to get the votes necessary to pass the amendment, its adoption had become difficult and expensive. The deliberate delay on the part of the Republican Congress has cost this already over-taxed country hundreds of thousands of dollars for special sessions.

The real "specific record" of the Republican party on woman suffrage begins with their refusal to incorporate it in the Fourteenth Amendment—which amendment, by the way, first put the word "male" into the Constitution; in the Fifteenth Amendment in the refusal to undo the wrong they had done in the Fourteenth, so that sex should not be a bar, that record was again made plain.

Republicans Broke Pledges.

No woman can read the planks inserted again and again into Republican platforms, dwelling upon the importance of a "free and unrestricted ballot" as the main safeguard of our liberties without a feeling of contempt for the hypocrisy back of these utterances. Year after year the Republicans in power forgot their promises to the women. The records show that every time one branch of congress went Democratic somebody thought it was time to bring up suffrage in the other House. So we find that about the same time that Senator Sargeant was introducing the suffrage amendment in the Senate, Speaker Randall was calling for the appointment of a House Committee on Woman Suffrage, and the first vote taken on that amendment came some seven or eight years later, when Cleveland was president.

But the most notable part of the Republican record begins with the return of that party to power in 1896. Suffrage had begun to grow by leaps and bounds. The West had turned white on the suffrage map, but Congresses came and went fer sixteen years and the suffrage amendment never got out of committee. Mr. Hays says the Democrats talked for eight years; well, they talked to some purpose, since at the end of that time enough Republicans had been won over to vote for the amendment to insure its passage. If the women of the country owe the Democrats nothing because after eight years they failed to pass the amendment in spite of the pleas of nearly all the great party leaders, from the president down, what becomes of the sixteen lost years when the Republicans were in control of the entire machinery of government? Or the thirty odd years preceding when they might have passed this amendment?

I am proud of the record of our leaders in regard to woman suffrage. I am sorry that not all the party were willing to follow those leaders, but at any rate, I am not ashamed of long years of double-dealing and hypocrisy. The chairman of the Republican National Committee is a very able and astute gentleman, but he cannot explain away the long, blank years of broken promises, nor the inaction of his party when to act would have been so easy and so profitable.

Help the Teachers.

From the St. Joseph Gazette.

St. Louis and Omaha have each raised the salaries of the teachers in their public schools from ten to twenty dollars a month for the remainder of the present school year and will arrange to make the increase in pay permanent before entering the next school year. This action is a just one that should commend itself to boards of education throughout the entire country.

No class of our people have been so disastrously affected by the rapidly-increasing cost of living as those who work at stated salaries, in which class are the teachers in our public schools. In rare instances have the salaries of this class been advanced in proportion to the rise in living coets. As a result of this, thousands of our best teachers are quitting the profession to engage in other lines of work.

The finances of our St. Joseph school board will not permit of such an increase in teachers' salaries as is deserved but something ought to be done along this line. And arrangement must be made before the beginning of the next school year to remedy this condition. The people will gladly pay higher taxes for school teachers when they know it is necessary in order to treat the teachers justly.

Attend Board Meeting.

Rev. R. E. Snodgrass, pastor of the First Christian church and Rev. W. H. Rust, pastor of the Christian church of Burlington Junction were at St. Joseph yesterday attending a district executive board meeting.

Palmer Writes G. O. P. Platform
Contest to Win the $10,000 Prize

(From Kansas City Post).

Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer, who was in Kansas City Saturday, has written a "Republican platform" which he will enter in the $10,000 prize contest launched by the Republicans. Here is Mr. Palmer's "Republican platform":

If entrusted with power,, we pledge ourselves to undo all that the Democratic party has done. We will immediately repeal the federal reserve law, amend the constitution to make an income tax impossible, destroy the department of labor and the children's bureau, wipe out the workmen's compensation law, abrogate the 8-hour day, legalize child labor, consign the parcels post to the scrapheap, stop the federal aid to public highways, take the savings bank out of every postoffice, destroy the rural credit system and demolish the farm loan banks, repeal the Clayton anti-trust law, destroy the federal trade commission, strangle the merchant marine by removing the shipping board, reinstate the coal strike, let the profiteers go free, refuse to ratify the peace treaty, put the country back on a war basis and surrender to Germany. To prove our good faith in this policy of scuttle and crawl, we will nominate a United States senator for president.

Will Give It Back.

"If I win the $10,000 I'll give it back, for the Republicans might need it to swing a few votes in Maine," he says.

"And I also see where the Republicans have appointed a platform committee to try and tell the people what the Republican party stands for," continued Mr. Palmer. "I know many of the members of that committee—fine Republicans.

"For instance, there is Bois Penrose, a good Republican. On the committee with him is Gifford Pinchot. No doubt these two will co-operate, for Mr. Pinchot has called Penrose all the names which a Republican can lay tongue to.

Johnson and Hughes.

"Then I see where Senator Johnson of California is on the committee. And, so is Mr. Charles Evan Hughes. And, if I remember correctly, Senator Johnson has been accused for losing Hughes his presidential election by throwing California into the Democratic column at the 1916 election.

"This Republican platform committee is a great committee if it never meets. If it should meet it will take General Wood and all the standing army to preserve peace."

Times Have Changed

People used to buy their merchandise where they could get the most in quantity. Quality first was never considered and service was something unheard of.

But times have changed. People demand service, and first class service at that. This is why we maintain our efficient delivery system. But above all, people want Quality, especially in meats. So to give the people what they want,

WE KEEP THE QUALITY UP.

You save when you buy it—moderate in cost. Leaves you more money with which to buy other things. You save when you use it—has more than the ordinary leavening strength—therefore you use less. You save material it is used with. Never fails.

Washing the Electric Way with the
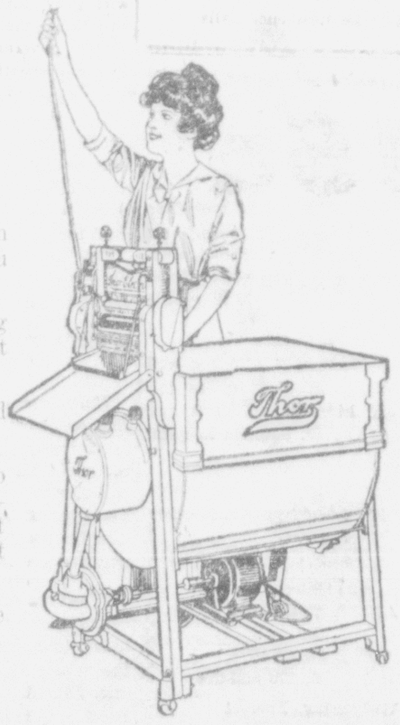
Thor



Getting the washing done away from the house and getting it done the way you like to have it are two different things.

The best argument in favor of doing your own washing is that you can have it done the way you want it.

But washing—the old way—is too hard work for any woman.

With the Electric Washer you can do the work yourself and you can do it beautifully—washing the finest fabrics without injuring them—using the best soaps that will not harden or rot the fabrics.

In fact there are a thousand and one reasons for doing the washing at home—

IF YOU HAVE AN ELECTRIC WASHER.

War Orphans Learning "American".

One of the developments in the wars aftermath, that is bringing pleasure to many in America, is the learning of the American language by the French war orphans who have been adopted by individuals an dorganizations in this country. There are quite a number of such proteges in Nodaway county and in nearly every instance the children are making an effort to acquire an understanding of English so that they may correspond with their benefactors. In no case could any of these children read or speak any language but French when adopted. The Lasher community circle has adopted two, the Y. W. C. A. of the State Teachers college has undertaken the care of one and Mrs. Mary Kost Riffle living south of the city has adopted one. Each of these cases are permenant adoption, and the child will be cared for until able to support itself. Last week, Mrs. Riffle received a letter from her god child, Leone Darmony of Orleans, France, written in English The sentences were clearly composed and remarkable well written and the child had been studying the language only since last Easter. Miss Blanche Dow, teacher of French at the college, very kindly translates all French communications for any such correspondents. All of these people are doing many things for these French children besides giving the prescribed war fund.

Women Study the Ballot.

Wichita, Kan.—Armed with pencils and notebooks, club women students from five surrounding states are here to attend the regional school of citizenship, under the supervision of the League of Women Voters. The improvised school room in the Hotel Lassen is crowded with gray-haired women eager to learn how to use the machinery of the United States government and to acquaint themselves with parliamentary law.

At the end of a 6-day course the women expect to have absorbed sufficient governmental knowledge to enable them to return to their communities to instruct others in the intelligent use of the ballot and law making poreedure. Miss Marie Ames of St. Louis, instructor-in-chief, is impressing the women with the necessity of having pleasing voices and concise messages if they expect to help materially with the reform measures for which women are working.

Paramount subjects discussed are compulsory education, teaching of English in the public schools, and legislation to better living conditions for women and children. Mrs. W. Y. Morgan of Hutchinson, acting state chairman, is presiding.

Hog Cholera Rules.

Jefferson City, Mo.—Four rules that can be written with a pencil on the back of a postal card will control hog cholera, if observed, according to State Veterinarion Dr. D. F. Luckey of the Missouri State Board of Agriculture, in his annual report presented on January 17, 1920. Luckey's rulues are as folows:

"(1) The owner must watch his hogs closely. (2) If any sign of disease appears among them, he should call a competent veterinarian promptly. (3) If cholera is found, the diseased and exposed herds should be vaccinated forthwith. (4) Burn all hogs that die of any disease whatsoever."

DON'T WAIT FOR INCOME TAX MAN TO PULL DOOR BELL

He Is Too Busy These Days to Seek You—Get Busy at Once and Prepare Blank

"Don't wait for an income tax man to pull your door bell or your coat tail. He is too busy these days to seek you out; but he is where you can find him if you need his help."

This bit of advice is contained in a statement given out today by Collector of Internal Revenue at Kansas City. The statement continues:

"Everybody who had an income during 1919 must now determine whether his or her net income was sufficient in amount to require an income tax return. The best way to find out is to get a Form 1049A and follow the instructions printed on it. That form will serve as a reminder of every item of income; and if a return is due, it tells how to prepare and file it.

"One of the important points to keep in mind is that a person's net income is found by a computation prescribed in the law, and that each item of income from every source must be considered, unless specifically exempted.

"Another thing to remember is that the personal exemption allowed taxpayers by law has no relation whatever to the requirement to file return. This exemption is not to be considered until a person has figured out his net income and determined whether it was sufficient to require him to fine a return. Then, if a return must be filed, he should read carefully the instructions for claiming exemption, and complete his return.

"If in doubt on any point as to income or deductions, a person may secure free advice and aid from the deputies stationed throughout the district. Many banks and trust companies are also furnishing similar service during banking hours.

"Early callers are getting better attention than those who rush in just before the filing period ends on March 15th. Taxpayers can help the government and themselves by coming early for any needed advice or aid, and by early filing of returns and payments."

POLITICAL PARAGRAPHS.

It is not so much the difficulty of getting the concurrence of Democratic Senators as it is the reconcilement of Republican factions in the Senate that prevents headway toward a compromise on the peace treaty. The Republican "irreconcilables" are farther from the Republican "mild reservationists' than the Democrats are from the latter.

Senators Borah, Brandegee and Sherman threaten to leave the Republican party if Mr. Lodge doesn't insist on his destructive "reservations" to the treaty of peace. If there was any way to induce these gentlemen to leave the Senate also the people would forgive M. Lodge many past offenses if he forced that outcome.

The "steering committee" of the Republican House of Representatives is following the course charted by Czar Cannon some sixteen years ago, and is certain to reach the same destination—overthrow at the hands of insurgents.

The slogan of the Republican congress is said to be "economy". Since neither the Senate nor the House of Representatives is passing any important legislation it would be a saving of time and money to adjourn sine die.

If any half wit had been guilty during the war of uttering the slanders that Republican Congressmen have been hurling against the government since the armisitice he certainly would not have been sent to the Senate or the House of Representatives.

Thus far it has cost the tax payers $1,000,000 to have the Republican Congress ascertain that a fighting force of 4,000,000 men is a very expensive institution but well worth the money when it triumphs in its work as the American Army and Navy did.

One withness testifies that the Republican "investigating" committee frequently got into a cul de sac. That is French for "a blind alley". It was a fitting penalty for wandering from the highway.

Mr. Lodge is a versatile leader, with ability to escort the "mild reservationists" forward one day and accompany the "irreconcilables" backward the next day without turning a hair.

ARTIST SAYS GIRLS ARE HARD TO TAKE

COLUMBIA PHOTOGRAPHER SAYS MEN ARE EASY.

MUSIC AN AID, HE SAYS

University Missourian Prints Interesting Interview With Artist—Says Girls' Coiffures Are a Trial.

Girls are the most difficult subjects for the photographer.

Music plays an important part in driving away the harshness from a countenance.

The girls' coiffures are a trial.

The right side of a face is the more attractive.

Men are easier to photograph than women.

All the world is two-faced to the photographer.

The foregoing are some of the interesting facts gleaned from an interview with a Columbia photographer, according to the University Missourian of recent date.

This photographer makes use of a phonograph for music, he says, softens the lines in the face. The most trying task he has, he asserts, is photographing a group of girls.

"The old family albums in every household, which show erect ancestors with collars clamped into place, relentless smiling lips and alarming eyes are relics of ancient history. Photography has developed marvelously within the last two years. One cause for this improvement has been the moving picture, working for new effects continually. New methods of lighting to bring out high lights and lines of character have been developed. In the best photography today often lines are indistinct and even hazy to produce artistic effects.

But the young woman's coiffure is a trial. "Next year, when the exaggerated ear effects have been superceded by other distensions," said the photographer, "they will be still more humorous."

Generally the right side of the face is most attractive. With the prevailing hair arrangement, covering one-half the forehead, it is sometimes impossible to recognize a right and left view of the same girl. Few persons have regular enough features to permit a direct front photograph.

Men are easier to photograph than girls, for they are less self-conscious. They come unconcernedly, look natural, and achive good results. It takes as long to photograph one girl as it does six men. Yet girls are more responsive to a suggestion.

There seem to be more dark haired men than light-haired among university students. Just as among the girls, types prevail; it is easy to recognize students in the various divisions.

"There are a number of distinct types among the girls who come to be photographed," said the photographer. "There is the girl who is going to teach school and says, 'This picture must get me a job.' The society type is easily recognized. There are the professional girls, studying law, perhaps, or medicine. The grind who never plays, the athletic girl and the girl taking home economics with a practical sense of preparedness—all are different. The work of the photographer is to recognize each type immediately and then attempt to interpret personality in a picture. You only see a person once. After that it is personality that affects and appeals to you. To get that 'once' into a photograph so that it really portrays personality is a big task.

All the world is two-faced to the photographer. That is, the two sides of no individual's face are alike. This is one reason a side or side-front view is usually made.
